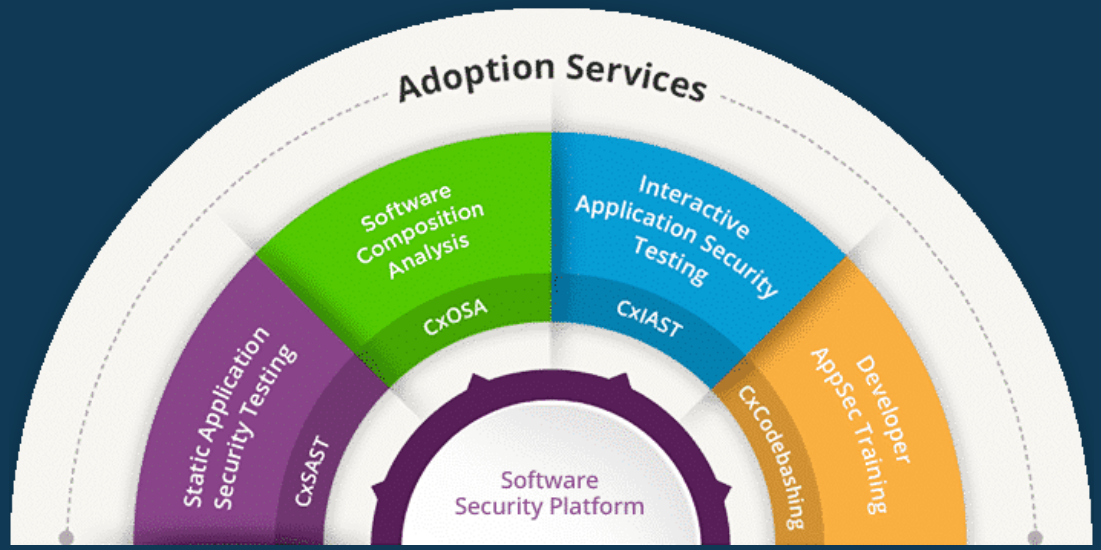
Checkmarx



Instill security into your CI/CD pipeline and release secure software faster

Checkmarx is a next-generation solution designed from the ground up to support agile development process and Devops, with no compilation of code required. Checkmarx identifies all the development technology that a customer is using on its own, whether it is Java or .NET or otherwise. Multiple languages interconnected can be scanned in one go. The most important aspect is that it shows exactly, on which particular line, the vulnerability is. The user interface is very intuitive, and it offers help on the fly.

- The valuable feature of Checkmarx is the Best Fix Location and you can save a lot of time trying to mitigate the configuration.
